Letter from the Rector

Daniel Sada Castaño

«25 years committed to bringing out the best in each student».

The Centro Universitario Francisco de Vitoria was inaugurated 25 years ago with four degree courses: Law, Economics, Business Administration and Journalism. At the closing ceremony of that first year 1993/1994, the director of the Centre, José Manuel García Ramos, began his speech dedicating a few words of thanks to the 44 professors, 42 administrative and services personnel and the 372 students who put their faith in the educational project.

Similarly, 25 years later, I give thanks to God who called us to this task, the Regnum Christi and the Legion of Christ, to all those who form a part of the University Community (977 professors, 160 mentors and 496 administrative and services personnel) and all the people who during these years have put their faith in us and helped us to become what we are today. To all we give our thanks and to all the University owes a great debt of gratitude.

The pillars on which the Centro Universitario Francisco de Vitoria was established remain intact at the UFV: academic excellence, technical and humanistic education, internationalisation and personal engagement. This is an educational project centred on the person with the goal of providing students not only with skills and knowledge, but as an integral person, transmitting values and attitudes that will make them individuals able to understand science and their profession as a responsibility in service of society; preparing them not only to practice a profession but to live a full life.

After these first 25 years, the best way to celebrate the achievements of the past is to face the challenges of the future and see what we must do to serve society better. We must understand the keys which add more human value to the vast changes taking place in the world we live in, and practice them in the manner fitting of an institution of higher learning: hand in hand with science and with a profound faith in the human being and the aspiration to meaning and fulfilment present in all men and women for all time.

This is our challenge and our commitment for the coming years.

Mission and Vision

Mission

To create a university community of people seeking the truth and goodness and who, with their leadership and education, can promote a Christian transformation of our society and culture.

Identity

We are an open and international University of Catholic inspiration.

Of Catholic inspiration. With the most absolute respect for the individual freedom of each of our students and professors, our educational model is inspired by the values of Christian humanism, principally with the ethical practice of the profession, personal integrity and social commitment.

This is also a University open to people and knowledge. It is open to all people without any limitations due to cultural background, social position or economic status. The UFV is a meeting point, open to knowledge, to new technologies, to science and research, culture and change.

This is an international university that is committed to educate its students for the globalised world in which they will live.

Values

Values are the basis of all actions of the Francisco de Vitoria University, as these are implicit in the development of the person.

Spirit of Community: each person is the face of their community. In turn, everything we do is oriented to achieve the common good that sustains every member of the UFV community and that takes precedence over the satisfaction of individual interests.

Vocation of service: to adopt a permanent attitude of cooperation with others, which in turn encompasses the values of humility, honesty, excellence and selflessness.

Contagious ethic of hard work: always remembering why and for whom we work, and the value of our labour before God, for others and for ourselves.

Vision

To be a leading university in the sciences and professions centred on the person.

Motto

The motto of the Francisco de Vitoria University is:

«Vince in bono malum» «Overcome evil with good»

These words are taken from Saint Paul's Epistle to the Romans:

«Noli vinci a malo, sed vince in bono malum»

(Rm 12, 21)

This motto reflects the aspiration of the entire university community to change the attitude of a society, proposing to overcome the evil of ignorance with the good of science; the evil of egotistical materialism with the good of Christian humanism; the evil of indifference with the good of the search for truth.

Academic Excellence

Achieving academic excellence is based on the quality of the faculty and their educational vocation.

Highest Rated Faculty

The UFV has established a quality assurance system (DOCENTIA) for teaching standards, validated by public evaluation agencies (ANECA and ACAP, currently Madri+d Foundation). This system is incorporated into a strategic process of continuous improvement which invites teachers to reflect on their performance and to take the appropriate actions for professional development.

University Leadership School (ELU)

A comprehensive and interdisciplinary academic training program, with a duration of 4 years, bringing together some 200 students from more than 40 Spanish universities, the majority from the Europa Grants program. The aim is to create a meeting point and develop a network of academic and professional talent.

Excellence Grants

The UFV offers a broad program of grants for students with excellent academic performance: Excellence Grants for students residing in 24 local municipalities; Excellence Grants of the Community of Madrid and Grants for Brilliant Academic Record.

Optimus Award

This annual award recognises the efforts of the best student of each faculty: their effort, hard work and dedication to all areas of their comprehensive education, in accordance with our values and educational project.

The winners in 2019 were:

- | Patricia Varón Álamo, Degree in Physical Activity and Sport Science
- | Lourdes Sofía Manzano Herrero, Double Degree in Law and Criminology

Grants and Assistance

Quality and Organisational Transformation

The mission of the Vice-rectorate for Quality and Organisational Transformation is to oversee the dissemination of a culture of quality and best practices, effectiveness, efficiency and the functionality of services, projects and processes for the development of a management model centred on the person. It will also work to coordinate and accompany the Educational Community to generate and implement systems that facilitate management, evaluation and analysis of the results of the activities of the University. All of this based on a philosophy of constant learning and continuous improvement in service of the community and addressing the fundamentals.

The Vice-rectorate for Quality and Organisational Transformation is structured on three main axes:

1. Quality and Evaluation

- To give support to qualifications in the processes of the Internal Quality Guarantee System.
- Processes of Oversight and Renovation of Accreditation.
- Continuous improvement through information analysis.
- Maintaining the ISO Certification 9001:2008: Management, Library and Colegio Mayor.

2. Excellence

a. Centre of Excellence: a promotor and coordinator of initiatives that seek change and improvement at the UFV: Ambassadors, projects of the Strategic Plan and engagement with the University Community (Santo Tomás, PAS meetings, Aranjuez and faculty).

b. Centre of Active Listening: to encourage and develop the virtue of listening in the university environment for the taking of decisions centred on the person. Defining directives and establishing procedures to improve the quality of academics and services of the university in accordance with the UFV Mission.

3. Digital Transformation

The strategy was established at the Digital Transformation Committee and has been deployed through the Office of Digital Transformation which combines the following areas:

a. University Applications: consolidation of all user services into a single, One-Stop model, creation of audio-visual educational content, facilitate technical support and the training necessary for the correct use of technology, consolidation of Microsoft Office 365 and the Virtual Classroom.

b. User Services: to offer a single, One-Stop model to engage with the entire UFV Community, attending enquiries and requests through a series of interlinked services and processes ensuring needs are addressed and effective solutions are provided that add value.

c. Infrastructure: to give support to all areas of the University, as a key area for the technological development of UFV through telecommunications, data networks, servers, systems and cybersecurity.

d. Management Applications: the necessary tools and software solutions to help perform the many activities within the University Community.

e. Digital evolution based on the vision of the UFV Connected Campus: to promote the use of cloud computing, connectivity, production of content, knowledge transfer, the profile of global talent, the CVs, personalisation, applied artificial intelligence, security, new spaces for meeting, learning and optimising resources.

Social Responsibility

At UFV Social Responsibility is a voluntary commitment assumed by each and every member of the University Community.

With the University Community

Students

Our principal objective is to educate committed persons and competent professionals.

- | Course in Social Responsibility consisting of a theoretical module and practical experience in institutions.
- | Course in Personal Skills and Competencies, enabling students to acquire the skills to develop fully their vocation.
- | Promoting healthy habits among young people: Spanish Network of Healthy Universities.
- | UFV Sports Program: with this program we support the practice of sport and its values, working to balance an academic and active life.

- | UFV alumni: maintaining relationships with former students educated in the values of UFV, while promoting and strengthening links between graduates and the University.

Employees

Our principal responsibility.

- | Transparency in communication.
- | Continuous training.
- | Healthy lifestyle programs: "Healthy Wednesday".
- | Welcome Plan for new employees.

Executive Coaching and Consulting Centre (IDDI)

The Executive Coaching and Consulting Centre (IDDI) of the Francisco de Vitoria University is a centre specialised in executive training and business consulting for the transformation of the person, the team and the organisation as a whole.

We work hand in hand with companies to navigate complex economic environments using the IDDI Method, a practice that incorporates a new vision: a dialogical approach that allows organisations to develop meeting points and combine a binary calculus of profit/person. The IDDI has had unique insight into the business realities over the last 16 years, working in over 500 in company projects and in open programs with 900 business clients.

The IDDI is the only university institute specialised in organisational transformation that is centred on the person. With a panel of experts and investment in research, over the years the IDDI has been able to develop models for leadership, coaching, new methodologies and tools.

Areas of activity: programs for executive education, leadership and organisational transformation in an open, in company format with certifications in dialogical coaching for the top three levels of the company. The IDDI has conducted 25 editions of dialogical coaching in Spain, Mexico and Egypt as well as 17 editions of its Leadership Deployment Program (PDL).

Areas of research: Research unit: Irene Vázquez Chair of the Person-centred Company: model, tools and methodology for the person-centred company: pre-diagnostic, diagnostic and intervention. Role of change agents in an organisation. Version 2.0 of the Dialogical Coaching Method and Version of the Systemic Leadership as Change Agent.

Le Cordon Bleu Madrid

Founded in Paris in 1895, the Le Cordon Bleu culinary school arrived in Spain in 2011 after an alliance was established with the UFV to bring haute cuisine and Gastronomy into the University and the Postgraduate program. Thus the Haute Cuisine School of the Francisco de Vitoria University was born.

During this academic year, the seventh edition of the Premio Promesas for haute cuisine was held, hosted by the renowned chef with 2 Michelin Stars Andoni Luis Aduriz. This year also saw the launch of the first Diploma in Culinary Management as another step in the training offered and a new dimension to the business management area within the School. Additionally, Le Cordon Bleu School was a notable participant in the 25th anniversary celebrations of the University, contributing a spectacular birthday cake and smaller desserts greatly enjoyed by the attendees.

The School concluded the last academic year with 851 students enrolled in its haute cuisine programs.

Integral Family Support Centre (CAIF)

The Centre offers an integral and cross-disciplinary service to respond to any difficulty, conflict or problem that may arise within a family, a couple or at an individual level either in children, adolescents or during adulthood. Services include psychological counselling, psycho–pedagogical support, psychiatry and orientation. Training courses are also offered for parents, professionals and students.

This wealth of resources allows us to provide personalised attention adapted to the specific needs of each person or family, with in-depth evaluations and a program of intervention and support throughout the process, all in the hand of excellent professionals.

During this year, the CAIF attended 326 people, of whom 200 were members of the UFV community (both staff and students) while the other 126 were external. Some 27 training sessions were held in different institutions attended by 706 people (100 students, 442 parents and 164 professors/professionals).

Higher Vocational Training Centre Francisco Vitoria – CETYS

CENTRO DE ESTUDIOS
TECNOLÓGICOS Y SOCIALES
Universidad Francisco de Vitoria - Madrid

The UFV was the first university to incorporate the Advanced Degree Certificates in its academic offering on a University Campus through the Higher Vocational Training Centre (CETYS). It was also a pioneer in introducing dual training courses for subjects such as Diagnostic Imaging and Nuclear Medicine; Childhood Education; Administration and Finance; Sales Management and Commercial Spaces.

The courses for Advanced Degree Certificates have a duration of 2 years which can be accessed directly from secondary school. Since 2016, students can also access these courses after successfully completing the Intermediate Degree of the same subject. These courses are eminently practical, upon finishing their studies students obtain Senior Technician Certificate. After completing the course, students may access a university degree without the need to pass the entrance exam (EVAU) and to validate credits from various studies.

Colegio Mayor Francisco de Vitoria

UFV Madrid
Colegio Mayor
Francisco de Vitoria

The Colegio Mayor Francisco de Vitoria opened its doors in 2006, and this year had 207 students in full-time occupancy. The Colegio Mayor offers UFV students who do not live in Madrid the opportunity to experience university life in full. The educational aspects are incorporated into excellent services on the Francisco de Vitoria University campus itself, which provides quality accommodation in private rooms (separated into different zones for men and women), along with common study and recreation areas, etc.

The educational program established for these students is aimed at creating a community pursuing their studies in service to society, participating in various activities and experiencing university life on a day to day basis. Some 900 students, studying different courses and degrees have lived in the Colegio Mayor which has a team of teachers providing students with mentoring and individual tutorials. The community of the Colegio Mayor enjoy the experience of living university life in all its aspects, interests and perspectives.

UFV International Business School

Founded in 2014, the International Business School of the Francisco de Vitoria University is an institution that seeks the direct application of the skills, abilities and know-how acquired in training to the working world placement of students in multinational companies.

It offers an educational experience that is both authentic and transformative, providing excellent training that is practical, innovative and socially responsible. Students at the UFV International Business School acquire the skills necessary to become agents of change within the organisations they work or manage in a socially responsible manner.

The UFV International Business School uses, among others, interactive methodologies such as simulators, recognised as among the most effective ways to develop new skills, change attitudes, reinforce knowledge and make an impact in the workplace and in society.

The principal goal and value proposition of the UFV International Business School is to train a new generation of professionals and executives, helping students to "reinvent" themselves.

After a fruitful collaboration with ADEN International Business School over the last five years, this has now been renamed the UFV International Business School, and as of this academic year is incorporated into the Postgraduate and Vocational School of the University.

Altius Francisco de Vitoria Foundation

This is the Foundation of the UFV and a complement to its mission in the development of projects to promote social actions in favour of the most vulnerable in our society. The Foundation works to support individuals and families at risk of social exclusion due to unemployment, improving their social conditions and job skills to enter the labour market. Another of the Foundation's activities is the «1 Kilo of Help» program which, for over 18 years, has been channelling the help of people who purchase one of their donation cards in supermarkets throughout Spain. The UFV collaborates with the Altius Foundation through various initiatives, especially the "Solidarity Pay" for employees who wish to give their support to projects of the Foundation.

UFV Sports Centre

Since its inauguration in December 2016, the UFV Sports Centre has established itself as one of the most important assets of the Francisco de Vitoria University, with over 1,200 members, the majority students, faculty and UFV personnel. Recent additions include the new Padel and Swim schools.

The Centre, designed by the architect Alberto Campo Baeza, is open to its surroundings with ample facilities for practicing sports and wellness. In a single location, users can enjoy the saltwater pool, fitness room equipped with the latest generation of exercise equipment, and a variety of directed activities. This year the Sports Centre also has new installations: a football 11 and rugby pitch and 6 Padel courts where a range of competitions, both friendly and official are held. There is also the Exercise Physiology Laboratory, where students and professors have at their disposal the equipment and instruments necessary for research into physical activity and sport.

The UFV Sports Centre also played an important role during the 2018/2019 academic year by helping the work/ life balance of families by offering «No School Days» service during the year and a Summer Sports Camp during the holiday period. The success obtained last year and the demand for the service this year have exceeded all expectations.

Motor & Sport Institute

The new Motor & Sport Institute of the Francisco de Vitoria University is among the best equipped facilities in Europe. Since 2018/2019, the Advanced Polytechnical School uses these facilities to impart the Awarded Degree in Industrial Systems Engineering with aspects of Automotive Engineering, Industrial Organisation, Industrial Technologies and Robotics. This will be an official degree from 2019/2020.

The Motor & Sport Institute is an advanced centre entirely dedicated to automotive engineering and elite sports, aiming to mark an inflection point in the automotive world inside Spain and beyond. Located in Alcorcon, Madrid, with facilities covering some 12,000 m², the MSI is one of the finest high technology facilities in Europe and, uniquely, is the only facility of its type that integrates the areas of motor sports and the automotive industry. That is, academic and technical instruction, physical and psychological training for drivers and hands-on, practical sports training in a single location.

The four floors of the MSI combine university classrooms, workshops for advanced component manufacturing, calculation and design studios, chassis, motor and aerodynamics testing areas, a biomechanics and driver development centre, driving and eSport simulators, etc. The centre also has a spectacular exhibition hall, housing the private race car collection Teo Martin, promotor of the MSI.

The Motor & Sport Institute provides a unique and comprehensive service with the most advanced technologies and latest generation of equipment which, in line with the UFV commitment to excellence, permits our students to acquire the high level of technical training the sector demands.
